Faith In Shadows embodies the spirit of music by combining all of the elements of the music they love into an amazingly powerful experience. Bringing intriguing guitar harmonies and vocal melodies together with blazing solos, brazen bass lines and a driving beat they have forged a new dimension to rock and metal music.

FIS is the brainchild of Jessie Wooten, who has music in his genes, as well as his soul, being the son of Joseph “The Hands of Soul” Wooten, and nephew of Roy “Futureman” Wooten and bass virtuoso Victor Wooten. He met his band mates in high school, and in 2005 created a musical force to be reckoned with.

Jessie is a drummer by trade, but writes the band’s music on guitar and bass. James DaSilva brings the heat with insane solos and guitar work. Rainu Ittycheriah lends her soaring vocals adding a unique flair. Warren Sadler, the bassist and latest member of FIS, adds to the band’s intensity with his vocals and thundering bass.

Faith In Shadows’ current studio project entitled “Blind Faith” is a tour de force of all the things that makes FIS a fresh and new music experience. Featuring a cover of the late Michael Jackson’s hit song “Beat It” and a variety of equally inspired original tunes. Faith In Shadows delivers what every hard-rock fan wants: good music.
